Protecting your business from e-Criminals

Dear Colleague,

I'm Andrea Barnard, e-Crime Business Liaison Officer for North Wales Police. My role is to help you guard against criminals who use the internet and other electronic means to damage or defraud your business.

Attempts to commit this type of crime are growing at an alarming rate, as people use a greater range of devices to access the internet, and wi-fi in public places has become the norm. In addition, huge numbers of firms now use social networking sites, which provide yet another route for attack. Criminals are constantly devising new ways to lure users into very costly scams, so the need for vigilance has never been greater.

To help you stay one step ahead of the fraudsters and hackers, I would like to invite you to attend a Business Breakfast on Wednesday 29th June, 2011 at a special briefing for business people at Pwllheli Sailing Club in collaboration with the Aber-Bangor Skills Centre, Bangor University.

At this free event – you'll hear from experienced and highly-qualified professionals in the field of e-Security.

08:30 - 08:45	Breakfast, Tea & Coffee
08:45 - 09:15	Dr Les Pritchard, Forensic Investigation and Security Advice (Wi-Fi / 3G use on the move)
09:15 - 09:45	Peter Williams, Welsh Government (Hackers/current threats)*
09:45 - 10:00	DC Andrea Barnard, E-Crime Wales (Preventative Advice)
10:00 – 10:30	Q&A & Networking

*This session can be delivered through the medium of Welsh, please specify, when replying, if you would prefer this.

We're expecting high demand for this important event so please reserve your place without delay. Please e-mail Andrea.Barnard@nthwales.pnn.police.uk to reserve your place. I look forward to seeing you there.

Yours sincerely,
Andrea Barnard
